SHERIFF FOUND GUILTY

WITH THE DEPUTY SHERIFF FOR ESCAPE OF JOHN PENN.

The Trial Was Short—All Evidence Taken in Less Than a Day.

Sheriff John W. Hartman and Deputy Sheriff J. Howard Hartman were found guilty on Thursday, May 25, on charge of gross negligence in the escape of the prisoner, John Penn, colored, under sentence of the court.

The trial of the case against the Sheriff and his deputy began on Wednesday morning. The jury selected was composed of Adam R. Bream, Huntington; P. E. Brough, Latimore; Rufus H. Bushman, Gettysburg; A. G. Crist, Huntington; Wm. Fail, Tyrone; Chas. W. Good, Union; John E. Harner, Mt. Joy; Charles Newman, Littlestown; Chas. D. Overholtzer, Liberty; Jonas Routsong, Bendersville; John A. Serff, Union, and Jas. L. Staub, Hamilton.

District Attorney Raymond F. Topper had charge of the case of the Commonwealth, assisted by John D. Keith, Esq. The defendants were represented by Wm. Hersh, Esq., Hon. G. J. Benner and J. Donald Swope.

On last Saturday there had been a movement on part of the defendants to have the case continued. The motion for continuance was accompanied by a statement from Dr. J. P. Dalbey, setting out that he was the attending physician of John W. Hartman, Sheriff, that John W. Hartman is suffering from a serious lung affection, that his present condition is such that he can not without grave danger withstand the mental and physical strain incident to a public trial at this time. That his lung condition is the result of his having been gassed while in the United States military service overseas, that there is now an acute exaccerbation of his chronic condition, one of the results of his general lowered physical condition. In the event of a public trial there would be grave danger of serious results to John W. Hartman with the possibility of hemorrhage or even fatal results, that the history of his condition shows that his physical condition is very much improved during the warm months and that in his opinion several months of rest under these conditions would permit him to withstand the strain of a trial with much less damage.

The Sheriff's counsel inviting further examination by any physicians the court may direct to see him, two town physicians made an examination.

Dr. J. McC. Dickson reported that from his examination of John W. Hartman he had come to following conclusions:

1. That John W. Hartman is not in good health, having received a severe dose of chloride, perhaps other gas while in France in 1918.

2. Repeated examinations have failed to reveal active tuberculosis. No definite area in the lung from which to expect hemorrhages, no germs in sputum, or fever, nor any recent loss, rather a gain in weight.

3. Chlorine gassed patients have been known to die suddenly from heart muscle disease, no evidence of heart disease exists now.

4. While not in good health and considering all things possible, I feel that there will probably be no sufficient betterment in the condition of John W. Hartman by August 1922, and no great risk that immediate court testimony might lead to bad results.

Dr. C. G. Crist reported that, I find nothing in condition of John W. Hartman to justify the assumption that either his life or health would be jeopardized by his appearance in court at this term.

The trial was a short one, all the evidence presented on Wednesday and the first speech made. The witnesses for the Commonwealth were John Wissel, Arthur Donohue and M. A. Fugit. The facts were presented that the prisoner John Penn, under sentence in jail, had gone to a neighboring corn field and it was contended that it was gross negligence on the part of the Sheriff to permit any prisoner outside the jail unless attended by a jailer.

The defense intimated that John Penn, an old colored man, was in a bad physical condition and that the physician to the jail had advised fresh air, and so forth. Dr. Dalbey on the witness stand however said he never advised the Sheriff in any way to allow him his liberty, to go as he pleased. That it was fresh air in jail yard that had been advised. No other witness was presented for the defense.

District Attorney Topper made the opening speech Wednesday afternoon.

Council for defendants, Hon. G. J. Benner and J. Donald Swope addressed the jury and J. D. Keith concluded. The court charged the jury upon the duties of Sheriff as to prisoners and preventing escapes and gross negligence and case was given to the jury at 11.45 Thursday morning. In the afternoon the jury brought in a verdict of guilty.

The court then excused jurors and witnesses and the second case against the same defendants for the escape of Howell was not begun.

The second case was nol prossed after verdict of guilty in first case was returned. The Commonwealth had no purpose to turn the prosecution into a persecution, but having secured a conviction as a warning against conducting the jail as complained about, further proceedings were dropped.

Wade Tablets Erected.

Sunday, May 21, was the 79th anniversary of the birthday of Jennie Wade and it was remembered here by J. W. Johnson, of Rochester, N. This Tablet Was Unveiled by Her Sister, Georgia Wade McClellan
May 21, 1922

The second tablet was placed on the house on Breckenridge street where the Wade family lived many years and reads as follows:

Against Seminary Merger.

A suggestion has been brewing of a merger of the Lutheran Theological Seminaries at Gettysburg and Mt. Airy and Selinsgrove, and the idea, as it has been put forward seems to have Mt. Airy as the beneficiary of any such merger. This suggestion has never met with any encouragement or approval by the Board of Directors of the Seminary and at the meeting of the directory last week while the subject came up for discussion, it received no encouragement whatever, the Board being a unit against it. The Board was legally advised years ago that a removal was impossible in law.

A merger of the other two institutions with the one here and the merged institution located at Gettysburg might be possible in the future, but the institution here as the oldest in the country, the mother of all the other Lutheran institutions makes any other proposition impossible. The 100th anniversary of the Seminary here will be celebrated in 1926 and plans for this celebration are under consideration.

McSPARRAN ON PRIMARY

DECLARES IT WAS A VICTORY OF GOOD GOVERNMENT.

Some of the Phantoms that Would be Laid by Election of McSparran.

John A. McSparran, Democratic choice for Governor, came to the State headquarters of his party to plan his campaign. He said the result of the primary was a victory for good government.

"The result of the primary is highly gratifying to every lover of good government in the State," he said. "The big Democratic vote indicates a minority party alive and upstanding and ready to take up the work that lies ahead, and the terrific slump in the Republican vote, under conditions that usually would bring out a very large vote, just as surely shows that the rank and file of the Republican Party care very little whether the followers of the late Senator Penrose or the other crowd won at the primary.

"The last ten days of the primary campaign showed that the struggle which resulted in virtually a tie was a fight for the control of the party rather than a fight to clean up the State Government.

"Neither faction will concede defeat because a difference of 25,000 in a million votes is almost a fifty-fifty split, and any talk of harmony in such a case is rather the product of a fond hope than the announcement of an actual condition.

"They will analyze the situation, and while they say, 'I love you, Pinchot,' will choose to place this long-looked-for clean-up in the hands of those who have not been affiliated with either of those factions which, under one man, have for many years taxed our people to the limit and wasted the tax on frills, fancies, frauds, jobs and junketing."

John A. McSparren, Democratic candidate for Governor, declares that he, if elected, will remove the "phantom" from the payroll of Pennsylvania's government. "Phantom" is Mayor Moore's word.

The present discussion of the "phantom" and his apparent evil in public affairs was clearly explained by Democratic State Chairman Bruce F. Sterling, when he addressed large meetings of Democratic voters in a dozen or more counties of central and eastern Pennsylvania.

In referring to the waste and extravagance in the Departments of State, Chairman Sterling said:

"Nobody knows what is costs to run the government of Pennsylvania. No complete accounting of the affairs of State has been made since 1917. We do not know how many names, appearing on the annual payroll, are those of "phantoms" for whom some representatives of the organized system of plunder appears monthly and takes in the name of the "phantom" the people's money from the treasury."

Sterling's definition of "phantom" was given in an alleged statement of a colored man—and was about as follows:

"In the language of an old colored man who lives out in Fayette county, 'Does ye all know what is a 'fantum?' Well—Sah.—a fantum am a fellow what ain't. His name am on de payroll an on de votin' list. He is sposed to wuk all thru de yeah for de City, de County or de State. Sometimes he build de roads for de highwaymen's department. De machine Bosses on pay days draws de wages of all de fantums, and de bosses have money on Elecshun days to buy de fantums to vote to keep in office de men who knows de names of de fantums on de payrolls and de votin' lists."

BARLOW STATUE DEDICATION.

Bronze Statue Erected on Barlow's Knoll.

The New York State Monument Commission will dedicate on Barlow's Knoll on Tuesday, June 6th, a bronze statue of General Francis C. Barlow, the work of the New York sculptor, J. Massey Rhind. The statue is 18½ fet high, and will rest on a granite pedestal and will command a view of the field from the knoll.

Francis C. Barlow was born in the city of Brooklyn, New York, in the year 1835, and after finishing a course in the public schools, entered Harvard University. He later studied law and was a successful practicing physician in New York City when the hostilities began between the North and the South.

He enlisted as a private for three months in the 12th New York Regiment, which was one of the first to reach Washington after the President's call for volunteers. At Washington Mr. Barlow was raised to the rank of Lieutenant and later was raised to the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel with the 61st New York Infantry.

Later he became Colonel of that regiment and served in that capacity during the Peninsular campaign. During the battle of Antietam he was severely wounded but recovered and upon rejoining his regiment was raised to the rank of Brigadier-General.

In the Battle of Gettysburg, General Barlow commanded the extreme right of the Union line and took up his vantage point on the hill now known as Barlow's Knoll. He was wounded here in the hip. At first it was thought that it was a mortal wound. He recovered, however, and was with General Grant at Appomattox Court House at the conclusion of the war.

General Barlow went back to New York City and resumed his practice of law. He died at the age of 62 years. At the time of the battle here, General Barlow was one of the youngest men in command of a corps, being but 28 years old.

Governor Nathan L. Miller, of the State of New York is expected to be present and deliver the address at the unveiling exercises on afternoon of June 6. The New York Commission and 125 survivors are expected to be present. The Gettysburg Band has been engaged to furnish the music at the dedication services.

PRIMARY IS INTERPRETED.

Repudiation of Harding Seen in Pennsylvania Primaries.

The defeat of the Old Guard in Pennsylvania, following the defeat of the Old Guard in Indiana, helps to confirm the fact that the Old Guard organization is breaking up in the states under the weight of the Old Guard administration at Washington Alter was defeated for the nomination for Governor of Pennsylvania because he represents the same element in the party and stands for the same policies that Harding stands for in the nation Alter's defeat is a further confirmation of the fact known to most political observers that the people at large have had all they will stand of reactionism, inefficiency, incompetency and alliance with special privilege which is so flagrant and notorious that even an Old Guard stand-pat Republican like Pennsylvania will not longer endure it.

The vote for Gifford Pinchot, as in the case of Beveridge of Indiana, was not a vote for any affirmative set of policies, but a vote of protest against the Republican national administration, and, incidentally, a protest against the Harrisburg Contractors' ring in Pennsylvania The Pinchot vote does not mean that all the men and women who voted for Mr. Pinchot in the primaries are going to vote for him at the polls Thousands of them voted for him because they had no other means at this time of registering their protest against economic conditions brought on by the befuddled national administration. This element will be found behind the candidacy of John A. McSparren, the genuinely progressive Democratic nominee for Governor, when they cast their votes in November. They realize that Mr. Pinchot can only be elected by the support of the Old Guard, and that his election, brought about in such a way, would simply mean that he way, would simply mea he would be powerless to carry out most of the progressive policies that he may have. They realize also that John A. McSparren would be free from any such alliances and entanglements and would owe his election only to the progressive citizenship of Pennsylvania, without regard to party.

There is no hope that the Republican party of Pennsylvania as a whole ever will or can become a progressive party. If Pennsylvania is to take her place in the list of progressive States, it must be under a Democratic state administration.

The net result of the Pennsylvania primaries is a repudiation of and a warning to a reactionary element now in control of the Republican party. It is noticed that the days of blundering, four-flushing normalacy are at an end, and that the grip of the reactionaries upon their party organization is broken. It is fair warning to the reactionaries also that the worst is yet to come

Fordney's Slur of School Teachers

When Representative Joseph W Fordney, millionaire Republican Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, made his ill-mannered attack upon former President Wilson, he included a contemptuous slur upon the school teachers of America in general:

No better reply has been made to the Fordney doggerel and diatribe than the remarks of Representative Lowrey (Dem., Miss), who protested against ridiculing school teachers on the floor of American Congress, and paid high tribute to the "consecrated service" rendered by the country school teachers of America. Mr. Lowrey said:

"I wanted especially to express regret that the usually genial gentleman from Michigan (Mr. Fordney) in the exercise of his customary ardor for the abuse of Woodrow Wilson should have indulged in a vicious attack upon members of the honorable profession from which Mr. Wilson came He asserts that "a school teacher is not much man outside of his profession," and regales us with the ribald doggerel:

"Good-by scholars, good-by school,
Good-by teacher, you darned old fool.'

It is to be lamented that a man who gives himself to business and makes money or who gains political honors some times becomes so engrossed in these things as to speak scornfully of the men and women as a class who give their lives to the work of building character and promoting culture in the world. The teachers of this country are dedicating their lives to making the men and women who must make everything else that is worth while. Why then, tell me, should they be ridiculed on the floor of the American Congress?

"If a teacher is not 'much man,' then certainly we must have some very shoddy men disgracing the flood of this House; some of them, strange to say, members of the party which the gentleman from Michigan champions. Fess, of Ohio; Fairchild, of Indianna: Andrews, of Nebraska: Brocks, of Illinois: Temple, of Pennsylvania; Towner, of Iowa, and others, all former educators, and most of them former college professors or presidents Likewise, there are a few of the despised minority, such as Aswell, of Louisiana; Oliver, of Alabama, and Tillman, of Arkansas. Does the gentleman from Michigan consider that because they come from the teaching profession, forsooth, these men are 'darned old fools?'

Again, the biographies of the presidents of the United States show that Woodrow Wilson was not the only teacher among them. I think the gentleman will find, if he will inform himself, that it is the rule rather than the exception for Presidents to be ex-pedagogues Something like three-fourths of the men who have been raised to that high position once taught school. And I believe that a similar proportion of Members of Congress and of the Supreme Court have likewise been teachers at some time in their lives.

"But above all, are the country teachers, who have ever been the heroes and the martyrs of our educational work, and before whose consecrated service the college president and the high political official should alike stand with uncovered head."

Livestock Judging Contest.

The pleasure of taking part in the state-wide livestock judging contest during Young Farmers' Week, June 12 to 15, will not be the only reaction that boys and girls will get from a visit to the State College, asserts County Agent Hoffman. In addition to the valuable training to be received through handling and judging the college livestock, they will also be privileged to see other branches of agricultural work fostered by the college, the many experimental and research projects that are being conducted for the advancement of scientific agriculture. Friday, June 16, the day after the state championship is to be decided, will give the boys and girls a chance to attend some meetings and demonstrations of the older folks' Farmers' Week The trip should serve to give them a definite idea of what The Pennsylvania State College is doing, its purposes and the nature and scope of its work. Undoubtedly, every Adams county boy or girl who intends to visit the college during this week will go home filled with a realization of the importance of agriculture, and with the necessity of understanding and applying the new facts which are being discovered in the different phases of agriculture.

Pinchots are Pals in Their Victory

As soon as the returns proved that Gifford Pinchot had smashed the political machine of Pennsylvania, the most conservative stronghold of the Republican party, the smile of victory illuminated the faces of the victor and his wife. Mr. and Mrs. Pinchot were caught by the camera man just as he said: "Smile girl, smile, for we win."

Fooling the People Tariff Bill.

The McCumber Tariff bill, which is the Fordney bill with 2,057 amendments, drags its weary way in the Senate, daily arousing new opposition and antagonism from men of all shades of political opinion; from the Republican, Independent and Democratic press, from business men, including manufacturers and importers; from farmers, and almost every element possessing intelligence and with any understanding of economic principles.

The constitutionality of the provision delegating authority to the Executive to fix rates has been attacked by such great constitutional lawyers as Senator Walsh (Dem., Mont.), and Senator Pomerene (Dem., Ohio), and by one of the foremost authorities on the tariff, Senator Underwood (Dem., Ala.), but the Senate has already shown its contempt for the Constitution by confirming Senator Smoot and Representatives Burton as members of the War Debt Funding Commission

There is scarcely a schedule in the bill that is not subject to attack in the nature of an exposure of special privileges granted to the big interests. The Packers' Trust is well provided for. The Payne-Aldrich bill put one and a half cents a pound on all fresh meat. In the pending bill it is three and a half cents a pound on beef and veal, with lamb at five cents a pound Swine now on the free list, is given the rate of one-half cent a pound and fresh pork also is on the free list at three-quarter cents a pound. Sheep are taxed at $2 a head. But there has been no change in the rate on cattle on the hoof which the packers import from South America, and frozen meats are barred from competition

These are typical of the protection afforded the big interests

A Deadly Gun Tested.

Three men armed with a weapon of peculiar appearance, slightly larger than a horse pistol and smaller than a light rifle, on May 10 of this year at a distance of fifty feet converted a solid appearing seven passenger touring car into a flaming mass of junk in less than a minute The destruction of the touring car was part of a demonstration staged in Tenafly, N. J., of a small machine-gun designed by General John Taliaferro Thompson, United States Army retired, and destined, according to police and army experts, to prove a decisive factor in the present war on bandits

The three guns, pouring 45-caliber bullets at the rate of 1000 a minute, sliced a tire off the machine, cut through the spokes and chewed their way through the body, radiator, lamps, steering gear, tank and woodwork. Then a few incendiary bullets at the end set the wreck on fire. The deadly .45 caliber bullets may be instantly replaced by birdshot cartridges.

General Thompson, who was graduated from West Point in 1882, began work on the gun in 1916, but when the United States entered the World War he re-entered the army to take charge of small arms production for the War Department, and later became director of arsenals.

The gun weighs only nine and a half pounds, as compared with eighteen pounds, the weight of the next lightest automatic. It can be fired from the shoulder, or like a pistol.

Poultry.

Poultrymen are urged by the Adams County Farm Bureau to use every precaution in combating the disease known as coccidiosis, which caused such a heavy loss of chicks last year. This disease, which is found to be most severe between the ages of two and ten weeks is caused by a minute parasite which destroys the lining of the intestines. The trouble is most common among late hatched chicks, birds fed little milk and those that are being reared on old ranges which have been heavily stocked year after year.

The symptoms shown by the sick youngsters are loss of appetite, droopy wings, disordered feathers, weakness and slightly darkened combs The birds void a semi-fluid dropping which is usually white but may be of a fluid nature with a brownish tinge In acute cases, large amounts of blood stain the droppings. Post-mortem examination will show an inflamed intestinal tract and the ceca or blind pouches distended with a bloody, semi-solid mass or one which is hard or core-like. The crop and gizzard will no doubt be filled with feed

County Agent Paul Hoffman suggests that the chicks be supplied with all the milk they will drink and that a disinfectant, such as hydrochloric or carbolic acid be put in the drinking water, at the rate of one teaspoonful of acid to every gallon of water. As the digestive system is impaired, care must be taken in feeding It is a wise policy to use only a crumbly wet mash eliminating the scratch grain entirely from the ration until conditions are again normal Isolate all badly infected birds, disinfect the houses, and move to clean ground If the latter is impossible, lime heavily the old yards and cultivate

Miss Dillman Tells Her Experience.

The following brief account of an interview with a Gettysburg woman five years ago, and its sequel, will be read with keen interest by every citizen.

Miss Mary Dillman, 263 S Washington St., Gettysburg, says. "Doan's Kidney Pills are, in my opinion, a very fine remedy for weak kidneys My back was very weak and hurt me all the time. Backache bore down on me as if I had a great weight on my back My kidneys were too frequent in action and when I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills I purchased some at the People's Drug Store This remedy gave me fine relief and has never since failed to benefit me when it was necessary to use them"

The above statement was given February 15, 1916, and on April 11, 1921, Miss Dillman said: "Nothing could ever make me go back on Doan's Kidney Pills. This very fine kidney medicine drove all symptoms of kidney trouble from me Every once in a while I take a few of Doan's to be sure my kidneys are still in good shape."

Marked Down to Save You

$5.00 to $10.00

All means all—there are no exceptions. And the reductions are real as you will see from the newly blue-penciled prices on the old price tags which are left on every garment.

The styles are today's and, as none of them are extreme, they will be good for the rest of the year, and may need little or no altering next season.

The old prices afforded the best values Gettysburg has known for many years; the new, of course, ever so much better.

We have more of these garments on hand at this time of year than we like to have, which is the reason for the sacrifice prices.

WOOLTEX, the exclusive garments of the year, are not spared but all go at the above saving.

Summer has its uses for coats and capes. It is not too late but just the right time to buy a new Coat or Cape. Motoring, traveling, vacationing, or street all demand something new and snappy, for the cooler days and nights.

PROMINENT FRUIT GROWER

HARRY M. KELLER PASSES AWAY AFTER LONG ILLNESS.

Child Dies from Piece of Raw Potato in Lung on Way to a Philadelphia Hospital.

HARRY M. KELLER, a prominent fruit grower of Franklin township and an ardent Democrat died at his home midway between Mummasburg and Arendtsville on Sunday after a lingering illness aged 54 years, 9 months and 11 days. He was among the first patients at the Annie M. Warner Hospital last year and left improved but his health seemed so much impaired that recovery was doubtful.

He was the son of the late J. W. and Mary Keller of Franklin township and the deceased lived all his life in the same township. He started life handicapped by the loss of his right arm. When twenty five years old he met with an accident resulting in the loss of an arm but he was built of that type not to be discouraged by obstacles and he took up fruit growing on his farm and has become one of the most successful fruit growers in the county. He went through the difficulties other fruit grower have had to go through, not sufficient capitol to develop his orchards and had to become a borrower but worked on and on until he reaped the harvest of his work, until he was out of debt and making good in his chosen vocation to which he was devoted heart and soul.

He was a staunch Democrat and several time was a candidate for nominations. At one time it was for the office of Sheriff and later for County Commissioner. Several years ago Mr. Kellers life was the subject of a feature story in a well-known magazine, the purpose of the story being to show what can be accomplished under difficulties.

He leaves besides his wife six sons and daughters. S. Clarence Keller, of Mummasburg: Mrs. Guy B. Plank and Mrs. Lehman Weaver of Highland township; Paul, Leslie and Alva at home, and the following brothers and sisters: Robert M. Keller and Edward S. Keller, of McKnightstown; Mrs. T. G. Riley of Aspers Station; Mrs. John Bucher, of Bendersville: Howard W. Keller, of West Chester; Mrs. Howard Wierman and John Keller of Harrisburg.

EDNA MAY DIEHL, daughter of Howard and Alice Diehl, of near Abbottstown, aged 1 year, 10 months and 25 days, died Wednesday morning at 3 o'clock as she was being taken to Philadelphia to have a piece of raw potato removed from her lungs.

On Tuesday the mother, who was peeling potatoes, gave the child a small piece after which she was called to another room in the house. When she returned she found the child coughing and trying to get its breath in a vain attempt to dislodge the obstruction.

That night about 11.30 o'clock the little sufferer was taken to York in the hope that assistance might be given it. Dr. S. Ira McDowell, who was consulted advised that the child be taken to the Franklin University Hospital, Philadelphia, which was done. Before the parents and the child reached that city, death intervened. Surviving are the parents and a sister, Emma, at home. The funeral was on Friday with services in Christ Reformed Church, by Rev. Dr. F. S. Lindaman and interment in Christ Church Cemetery.

MRS. OLIVE E. HARTZEL, widow of J. T. Hartzell, at one time a County Commissioner, died suddenly on Thursday of last week from acute indigestion at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harry Thomas, on York Street, aged 71 years, 8 months and 17 days. She had been recovering from an infected limb and ate a hearty meal at noon and became suddenly ill at 2 oclock P. M. and died a half hour later. She was a native of Gettysburg and lived in or near town her entire life. She was a devoted mother, a good neighbor and held in highest esteem by all intimately acquainted with her. She was a member of the St. James Lutheran Church. The funeral was held on Sunday afternoon, services were held by her pastor, Rev. J. B. Baker with interment in Evergreen Cemetery. Six of her sons were the pall bearers. Her husband died nine years ago and she leaves six sons and two daughters. John Hartzell of Chambersburg: Mahlon, Charles and Howard Hartzell and Mrs. Harry Thomas, all of Gettysburg; William Hartzell, of Cumberland township: Samuel Hartzell, of Fairmount, West Virginia, and Mrs. Luther Sachs, of Waynesboro.

SAMUEL F. BUSHMAN, prominent farmer and fruit grower in Franklin township, died last Friday at the Annie M. Warner Hospital, aged 77 years, 8 months and 13 days. Mr. Bushman was born and raised in the vicinity of Orrtanna, and for the past fifty years has resided in Franklin township, midway between McKnightstown and Arendtsville. He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Bushman. His wife, who was Miss Sarah Lady, preceded him in death eleven years ago. Surviving him are two sons, W. Maurice Bushman, at home, Charles J. Bushman, of near Mummasburg; also one brother, Jacob Bushman, of Arendtsville; and three sisters, Mrs. Howard Sanders, of Fairfield, and Mrs. William Ogden and Mrs. Helen Fishel, both of Iowa Park, Texas. Funeral services were held on Monday in Flohr's church by Rev. D. T. Koser, his pastor, and interment was in the cemetery adjoining the church.

MRS. MARGARET BOYER, wife of Tobias Boyer, of Mummasburg, died at her home Thursday morning of last week in her eighty-first year. She had been in delicate health for some time. She was a good wife and neighbor and esteemed highly by her many friends.
